

August 2017

Dear University of Arkansas Employee:

In follow-up to the previous University Retirement Plan communications, enclosed is the Investment Mapping Guide. The guide provides you with fund-by-fund detail showing the current investment options available through TIAA and Fidelity, as well as the new investment options your existing investment options will move to on October 2, 2017.

As shared, these changes help make the University's Retirement Plan investment lineup consistent with what the University of Arkansas believes is considered best-practice in the industry; balancing stability, growth and expenses to provide you with a plan that helps your future retirement goals. If you have not chosen investment options from the new lineup, your current account balances, payroll contributions, and future investment elections will be mapped to the investment option that the University believes most closely aligns with your current choices.

What do I need to do?

- Review the enclosed mapping guide. If you are satisfied with the changes taking place, no further action is needed, the changes will occur automatically on October 2, 2017 at the close of business, typically 4:00 p.m. ET.
- If you have questions or would like to make fund elections other than those shown in the mapping guide, please contact TIAA at 800-842-0225, or Fidelity at 800-343-0860, for more information and assistance with your selections. Additional information is available online at tiaa.org/uasys or NetBenefits.com/UARK, or you can contact your campus Human Resources office for background and previous communications.
- Additional onsite Retirement Plan meetings will be held on campuses beginning in late August 2017. Please check your campus calendar for upcoming events.

Watch for more information on the Retirement Plan and for more news about other University benefits programs.

Sincerely,

University of Arkansas System
