

If you leave the university and are rehired by any department in the university or by another state agency or institution after thirty consecutive working days, you will be considered a rehire. If you have left another state agency or institution and are hired by the university after thirty (30) consecutive working days, you will also be considered a rehire. Monday, July 29, 2013 11:08 AM